

WORTH MILLIONS

But Could Not Buy Bread, So Goes the Story

LIKE THE MAN AT KLONDIKE, WHO DIED OF STARVATION, WITH HIS HUT FULL OF GOLD.

Many Die Yearly, With Means of Salvation at Hand, Were They But Able to Use Them.

Physicians the world over have known of and believed in the virtues of cod liver oil. They have, alas! also realized its drawbacks and the impossibility of administering it where it would do good. Doctors have seen hundreds of people die of consumption and other wasting diseases, whom they knew might have been saved had they only been able to take enough cod liver oil to obtain from it a sufficient amount of the medicinal principles which it contained.

It is not necessary to go to doctors to know why cod liver oil has not been a popular remedy, or to realize how few people are able to take enough of it to do them any good. The many who have needed and attempted to take this nauseating remedy, if they are still in a position where they need cod liver oil, are the ones who should throw their hats in the air and shout their joy from the housetops at the news which comes to us of Vinol.

These are the people who will never forget the name of this new remedy, nor will they ever cease to thank the Brock & McComas Co., our prominent druggists, who have become famous in the past few days, on account of their connection with the Boston firm who have introduced this same remedy.

How simple it all sounds, now that we know of it. Here the Brock & McComas Co. have right in their store a preparation that looks like and tastes like delicious wine. It is a delicious wine, only there has been added to it this extract of the cod's liver, this peculiar special extract of the curative principles, the means of obtaining which is the only discovery about Vinol. We do not believe there is an invalid in this city suffering from throat, lung or bronchial troubles, or in fact any wasting disease, but has already interested himself in this preparation.

The Brock & McComas Co. are kept busy explaining its merits and telling their many friends how it is now possible to take all that is necessary of cod liver oil, or Vinol, its concentrated active medicinal principles, to overcome disease. It has not been a difficult matter for them to explain, as they have done, the absolute uselessness of the grease itself and to demonstrate the great value of the medicinal properties of the liver of the cod. It has not been necessary for them to tell sufferers from such troubles that fat does not make fat, but simply upsets and disarranges the stomach.

There are many people right here in our city who know from but a few days' experience how much benefit they are deriving from this preparation, and who have already learned that the medicinal properties of Vinol act in a most wonderful manner in checking the symptoms of disease, while at the same time enabling the stomach to assimilate and digest from palatable, every-day food, the necessary nourishment to renew tissue depleted by disease.

The Brock & McComas Co. are justly proud at the success that will attend the connection they have with the prominent Boston firm who are putting up this preparation, and justly deserve all the fame and profit that will attach themselves to their name, on account of their enterprise in introducing Vinol to our city.

OSTEOPATHY.

Has been a great blessing to suffering womankind.

Mrs. Senator J. B. Foraker of Ohio, says "That if osteopathy did nothing more than to become the boon it is to suffering women its reputation was established as one of the greatest blessings to mankind."

If you are a sufferer and have taken medicine with little or no relief, consult Dr. Mahaffay. He has cured many such cases.

SOCIETY MEN.

That Is What Society Needs, According to a Society Woman.

"What we need is society men," declared a weary matron. "Our men are so fagged by their attention to business that they are next to worthless. They regard the average social function as an awful bore and leave everything pertaining to entertaining and to going about to their wives. In case the poor wife succumbs to the strain they hunt around for a spinster or widowed sister or sister-in-law or other relative who will consent to take upon her shoulders this social side of the matter."

"As for looking after a daughter, their duty is done when they've given carte blanche with a check book. An Englishman of high title often chaperons his motherless daughter during an entire season and from his knowledge of intelligibles is able to keep her well informed. How about the American papa? His only ammunition consists in an occasional rabid, blustering remark about the nincompoop fortune hunters who hover about the daughter of the house. As for sane, thoughtful counsel, he gives not a bit of it. Society is a game he got into without intention or effort, and he utterly refuses to take any trouble about his fellow players. Even his own daughters have to go it blind. As I said before, what society needs is society men."—Philadelphia Record.

SUSPENSION BRIDGES.

They Were Common In Peru In the Days of the Incas.

Suspension bridges, some of them of considerable length, were common in Peru in the days of the Incas. They were formed of cables of twisted osiers passed over wooden supports and stretched from bank to bank, then bound together with smaller ropes and covered with bamboos. The road from Cuzco to Quito is still noted for frail bridges of this sort, which are in constant use and span deep chasms.

The Chinese also, according to Kircher, have for centuries been familiar with the "suspension" theory and have constructed chain bridges in which the weight of the roadway is supported by the tension of the chains. The first iron suspension bridge in Europe was built over the Tees, near Middleton, in 1741, for the use of miners. Two chains were stretched in a straight line, steepled by ties from the banks below, and the roadway for foot passengers was supported by the chains.

The modern suspension system practically dates from 1816, when bridges, both over 100 feet in length, were successfully completed at Galashiels and Peebles.—London Standard.

THE FIRST HENCHMEN.

They Were Young Nobles Who Acted as Pages to the King.

Skeat derives the word henchman from hengtman (Anglo-Saxon), horseman, groom. It is probable that henchmen were in the first instance young nobles who at state ceremonies attended on the king as mounted pages.

History speaks of these henchmen in this capacity, for we read that Henry VI had three and Edward IV, six of them. We find, too, that they were mentioned in the royal ceremonies as belonging "to the riding household" and took part in tournaments.

The last time "henchman" is mentioned in connection with the court is in the reign of Henry VIII, and gradually it came to mean an ordinary page. The word is used by Ben Jonson and Shakespeare in this sense.

In an English journal of April 6, 1861, a Mr. W. Henchman claims that his family took their name from words spoken by Henry VII. to an ancestor in the hunting field, who had ridden as his page throughout an arduous day. "Crossborough," cried the king, "thou art a veritable henchman!"

Homeopathy.

Homeopathy is a theory of medicine promulgated by Dr. Samuel Hahnemann (1755-1843) of Leipsic in 1810. It asserts that any disease should be treated by medicines in minute doses that would produce in a healthy patient symptoms similar to those manifested by the disease requiring treatment. This is the principle of "like diseases are cured by like remedies" (Latin, similia similibus curantur) and is based on the theory that two similarly diseased conditions cannot subsist in the same organ at the same time.

Irresistible.

First Contractor—How did you fellows happen to get a job of repairing the pipes in Smug street? They were laid only a few years ago, and there was nothing the matter with them. Second Contractor—I know it, but the sight of that elegant new pavement on that street was altogether too tempting.—Chicago Tribune.

ROCKEFELLER PHILOSOPHY.

Son of the Multi-Millionaire Speaks of Moral Responsibility.

"The kind of men the world needs most today is, first, men of integrity and high moral principle, and, secondly, men capable of bearing responsibility."

"The majority of life failures can be traced directly to the lack of capacity for bearing responsibility," said John D. Rockefeller, Jr., yesterday before the members of the Young Men's Bible class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, of which he is the leader, discussing "The Ideal of Responsibility," says the New York World.

"If I had to choose between a man of brilliance but lacking responsibility and a man without exceptional talent but upon whom I could rely, I would unhesitatingly select the latter," he continued. "If you ask why so many men, young and old, are losing their positions and are not sought after for employment, I would give the reason as a lack of responsibility. I want a man whom I don't have to tell to do a thing and then go and ask him, 'Have you done it?'"

Yesterday's meeting was the second of this season and brought together one of the largest gatherings of "young" men ever present at the class meetings. Almost 300 members were on hand, including young men not out of their "teens" and "young men" with white hair and bald heads.

Young Rockefeller, after opening the services with prayer, devoted the greater part of his talk to outlining the plan of work for the coming season, which will be a detailed discussion of the 14 parables made use of by Christ.

The young millionaire was plainly dressed in a brown frock coat and looked rather older than in past years showing more reserve force.
